“ I only got to know Rory for a couple of years working with her at CAI, but during that time, I got to know a truly remarkable person. I grew up with a younger brother but always wanted a big sister; Rory was, in a number of ways, this big sister to me (always a person who I could confide my deepest secrets/passions in and always someone who had reassuring words of guidance when I needed them). She was always there for me and everyone else. She truly helped me get through a number of difficult times in my personal and professional life. I enjoyed every second I got to be around her and always looked forward to seeing her; I had so much fun being around her. Her passion for helping animals, especially puppies (I loved getting to meet a couple of her rescues), was infectious and she truly wore that passion on her sleeve with everything I got to see her do. I am going to miss Rory greatly and I express my deepest condolences to her family and everyone who had the fortune of knowing her. Thank you so much, Rory! - Your friend, Mark
