“ I knew Sally during her stay at Phoebe. She was a joy to work with. I very much appreciated that she was a people person, recognized people throughout the building. She had friends who also lived here and would be so happy to see them during events or during her walks. Sally had a great sense of humor, and showed it by sometimes rolling her eyes or blurting out a sarcastic comment. She was always paying attention to everything going on around her and would comment on the activities. At other times she wanted to sit quietly and hold my hand. Either way she was a much loved part of our Bridgeways group and will be missed.

Sally was our receptionist at the 2nd Street Rodale building in the 1990s. She made us all feel seen, she knew everyone and seemed to like us all! She helped humanize the workplace just by being her authentic self and being there every day to take care of little tasks that made our jobs easier. What a funny, kind, down to earth person. We were privileged to know her. Condolences to her family, I'm so sorry for your loss.

Sally was one of the first people I met when I went to work at Rodale. She was a kind and welcoming presence in the Second Street building and was so helpful to all, especially those who were new to the area. My sympathy to her family and friends. May your memories be a comfort in this time of mourning.
