“ I worked with Sue in the 70's and 80's at PNB/CoreStates! Many fond memories of our friendship and then in the last 10 years our friendship continued on FB! May she rest in peace!

“ Sue was best friends with my neighbor, Vickie Thompson, when Sue lived on Terrace Ave. and I lived next to Vickie on First Ave. This was a neighborhood in Bethlehem that was demolished when 378 was built. In the summertime Sue and Vickie would call out to one another with a special sound that let each one know they had gotten home alright. As a little kid, I was enthralled by their teenage rituals. I was pretty sure they both found my older brother, Tom, a person of interest as well. I spent more time with Sue's younger sister, Margie, who was closer to my age. We had a grand time in that neighborhood...putting on shows in my grandparents' garage and playing with all the neighborhood kids. When I found Sue, and subsequently Margie, on Facebook, I was so thrilled to re-connect with both of them. Sue managed to find some old black and white photos of those days and shared them on Facebook, much to my delight. Sometimes it is the friends you meet when you're young that have the biggest impact. I was so saddened to learn of Sue's passing, but so happy to have re-connected with her.
